This itinerary would be suitable for a family that has fair/good sailing experience. Keeping the distances from short to longer allows a good chance to practice seamanship skills. It also gives plenty of opportunities to see the islands and villages along the way.

If you have sailing experience then the sailing can be made more challenging, by having you actually run the yacht if you wish. The captain will be in the back ground helping when needed.

Please take a look, these are merely suggestions, should you have something in particular you would like to see please let us know.
